

Fuel Tank Inspection Device

Abstract of the Invention

An inspection device for inspecting the interior of an enclosed volume. The inspection device includes a display and an imaging probe coupled to the display. The imaging probe includes a first end having imaging optics. A protective sleeve is removably engageable with the imaging probe, wherein the first end of the imaging probe is movable with respect to a distal end of the protective sleeve.